

Preface

This Cross-Border Payment Reporting plus (CBPR+) User Handbook is intended to document and explain a variety of ISO 20022 payment related topics, as well as provide practical use cases to ensure a common understanding and adoption of ISO 20022 within the payment industry.

The SWIFT FINplus service will support CBPR+ messages on the SWIFT network traditionally associated with correspondent banking (many-to-many). These messages may be exchanged either between Agents in the same country or between Agents in different countries.

The use cases focus on a core topics where other relevant messages may also be referred to within the use case, it may also be necessary to consider other documented use cases, in order to capture a wider variation of scenarios.

Note:

This document jointly developed with the CBPR+ group continues to evolve inline with the Standards Release as:

- CBPR+ continue to develop market practice guidelines for additional message.
- Inaccuracies are identified and corrected.
- Further use cases and/or explanation needs are identified
